Description

10 Foot Deluxe Bench with Back 2x15 Inch Planks Perforated (940P-DP10) is an exact-model 10-foot bench with back in the commercial extra-heavy-duty thermoplastic seating family. It combines a perforated seat pattern with deluxe 15-inch seating and is supplied for portable placement. These features identify this model, rather than a general selection from the family.

Other installation	Portable and inground model codes are distinct; some families also offer surface or wall mounting
Length	10-foot and 15-foot configurations are separate model entries

The manufacturer specifies a welded 2-3/8-inch outside-diameter steel frame, durable thermoplastic-coated seating and stainless-steel fasteners. The family supports park, campground, recreation and public seating applications where the exact seat style, length and attachment method matter. The portable model is not represented as permanently anchored. Site managers should consider the appropriate security and placement plan separately. Matching powder-coated frame and seating colors are selected during ordering, not separate size or mounting configurations. Optional center arm and anti-skateboard kits are independently selected when compatible; they are not included simply because the base bench is ordered. Other 940 and 942 designs differ in the backrest, seating width, pattern, length or mounting and should be compared as separate SKUs.
