Description

Demonstration Site Sign, exact model UP192, is the ActionFit demonstration site sign for an outdoor fitness setting. It is an informational site component, not an exercise apparatus or a replacement for individual station-specific instructional labels.

Exact model specifications

Manufacturer model	UP192
2026 listed configuration	Demonstration Site Sign
Product type	ActionFit demonstration site sign
2026 listing	Demonstration Site Sign
Accessory	Sign only, not a fitness station

Configuration and ordering comparison

This SKU	Demonstration sign component
Individual fitness station	Separate exercise product
Site placement	Confirm signpost, mounting and instructional requirements

The 2026 ActionFit manufacturer price list identifies the demonstration sign as a distinct model. Since the source row does not establish its finished size, mounting post, printed message or included hardware, those details must be confirmed with the applicable manufacturer drawing or order specification. A site-wide sign can help identify a fitness area, but proper planning still requires equipment-specific instructions, accessible circulation and a suitable layout for the intended user age groups. Fitness stations and any additional sign mounting components are separately specified unless an approved package document states otherwise.
